

Grating Pacific
Los Alamitos, California

Client: Grating Pacific, Inc.
Architect: JR Miller & Associates
Budget: 1.8 million
Size: 24,700 SF

Constructed on the site of a sugar beet processing plant dating back to the turn of the 19th Century, this modern warehouse and office facility boasts a fire sprinkler system designed to high-pile storage standards, dock high doors and warehouse capacity for a future craneway. The 2,400 SF of interior office space, featuring slate tile entry and granite countertops also has the structural integrity for a second story.
